ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

I'm currently a student at Project CodeX, as a software developer student. It's a year course of which so far i have the basic skills that i've included above. The program is still going on and yet i only have front-end projects which are in my portfolio site that I've also attached above. The portfolio actually gives a brief explanation about the projects I've done so far. As the year goes and as we do more projects then i will update everything. We also going to do Back-End Projects.
